UNCONQUERED

Social worker, lawyer, humanitarian,
enemy of dictatorship, devoted to social justice and equal rights—Milada Horakova fought
... and died ... for a better way of life for all.
Her resistance to the Nazis and the Communists has already become part of the history of the Czechoslovakian fight for freedom.

This is the story of her fight.

MARSHAL TITO AND HIS GALLANT BANDS

By WINSTON CHURCHILL, SERGEANT WALTER BERNSTEIN, FRANK GERVASI, STOYAN PRIBICHEVICH
and LOUIS ADAMIC

---

"IT HAS BEEN NECESSARY to shed floods of precious national blood, it has been necessary that tens of thousands of the nation's finest sons lay down their lives in the course of two years' unequal struggle with the enemy, that in the end the truth about the actual situation in Yugoslavia might hew its way through to the world. Never before perhaps has a small nation paid such a high price to convince the world that the blood which has been shed in Yugoslavia is its own blood . . . The struggles of our peoples and the brilliant successes which they have achieved on the field of battle . . . have created all the conditions necessary that our peoples may succeed in realizing their aspiration—a free, truly democratic, fraternal, federal Yugoslavia."

(Signed) MARSHAL TITO.

RESTRICTED* COMMUNIST SEIZURE OF POWER IN EASTERN EUROPE AND THE BALKANS
R. H. Markham

Fellow Americans, I am to speak to you on methods of Communist infiltration and seizure of power, as exemplified by events in eastern Europe and the Balkans.

What I shall tell you is based upon direct observation made in the course of a third of a century. I went to the Balkans in 1912 and have spent most of the time since, in South-east and Central Europe. I was there last in the summer of 1946, when I was expelled from the area by the Red Army. During this long period of wars and revolutions I maintained intimate contact with common people and their governments, which means I had an excellent opportunity to see how Communism works.

Here are some of the things I observed:

In the first place Communism is a world movement directed from a single source and moving toward a single aim. It centers around Moscow, and demands unconditional loyalty to Moscow.

Whenever any person anywhere becomes an active Communist he, in effect, gives up his nationality and accepts allegiance to the Soviet Union. There are practically no exceptions to this rule.

Let me give you an illustration to show what this means. During my life in the Balkans I came into contact with Bulgarians and with Yugoslavs who centuries ago had become Moslems. From the day of their apostasy on, they have been called Turks, are considered Turks, and in their social as well as political life have acted as Turks. Likewise when Bulgarians, Serbs, Slovenes, Slovaks, or Hungarians become Communists they lose their loyalty to their nations and become warriors for the Soviet Union.

This is true of all Communists from Korea around the world to Pittsburgh and Los Angeles. Furthermore, the doctrine of Communism as a world organization has never been preached or practiced with more vigor and fanaticism than during the present month of November. I could quote almost numberless current declarations of Communists from all lands showing how they exalt Russia "as the leader of all progressive mankind", and consider Stalin "the sun of the entire world."

There is no such distinction as between good Communists and bad Communists, as between gentle Communists and fierce Communists; democratic Communists and autocratic Communists. There are just Communists. All of them serve and follow Moscow.

And that service is in the nature of a religion. Communism demands unconditional allegiance. Never has there existed a more imperious cult. It claims the whole man and the whole woman. It boasts of making new personalities. It shares its devotees with no other religion, no other philosophy, no other teachers. It exercises control over thoughts, emotions, and aspirations. It imposes its domination upon the nursery and the sport field, upon the factory and barracks, upon the home and the school.
